

International leasing is often used for legally transferring financial means abroad. Depending on objectives and goals received assets can be collected or used for reverse reinvestment (e.g. to a Russian company).

According to the agreement about the equipment's leasing the Russian company transfers a lease payment to a foreign (offshore) company. Herewith Russian company refers lease payments to its own costs, which essentially reduces taxation load.